

	Accommodation and Housing partners can play a key role in identifying and raising concerns around adult safeguarding. Consideration should always be given to their involvement in Multi-Disciplinary Team Meetings.
Self- Neglect cases involving self-harm are often a result of deep-seated prior trauma present in a variety of ways. This requires lengthy, flexible, and creative involvement and can be contrary to eligibility criteria for services and other organisational pressures. There should be clear guidance.
Multi-Disciplinary Team meetings should consider how discretionary enquiries under the Wellbeing Duty of the Care Act (S1) support the statement actively seeking It is not enough just to have regard to it.
